FoodForward

AT HOME

- anthony and caleb are eating lunch while susan is at work
- caleb used to hate blueberries but now he loves them!
- anthony enters the new piece of information into caleb's food forward profile settings

ON THE TRAIN

- susan is on her way home from work and needs to pick up some fresh ingredients for dinner
- susan opens foodforward and sees a new alert: caleb likes blueberries!
- she then uses foodforward to explore fresh food options
- foodforward tells her where she can find a local provider, directing her to a farmers market that is on her way home

AT THE MARKET

- at the farmer's market, susan searches for recipes involving kale
- if she is unsure of a certain food, she can take a picture to identify it

BACK AT HOME

- back at home, susan can make a healthy, responsible meal that her family will love

IDEA GENERATION

RESEARCHING PARENTS, FOOD, & MOBILE LIFE

“Every night is like Groundhog Day. I’ll be cooking, again, and the kids will be not eating, again.”

“The trouble is, I hardly see her. In the morning I leave before she wakes up. In the evening we get about 2 hours before she goes to sleep. I miss her.”

“I know there are farmer’s markets around, but it’s hard to keep track of which ones are open when.”
